10th IEEE International Conference on Software Testing, Verification and Validation (ICST 2017) 13-18 March 2017 Tokyo, Japan Call for Research Track Papers

Goal

We invite the submission of high-quality papers in all areas of software testing, verification, and validation. Research papers should present original and significant work that advances the state of the art. We invite submission of research and technical papers that describe original and significant work in the research and practice of software testing, verification and validation. Case studies and empirical research papers are also welcome. Authors of the best papers presented at ICST 2017 will be invited to extend their work for possible inclusion in a special issue of Journal of Software Testing, Verification and Reliability (STVR).

Topics of interest include, but are not limited to: Testing theory and practice, Testing in globally-distributed organizations, Model-based testing, Model-driven engineering and testing, Domain specific testing, Quality assurance, Model checking, Formal verification, Fuzzing, Inspections, Testing and analysis tools, Design for testability, Testing education, Technology transfer in testing, Agile/iterative/incremental testing processes, Testing of open source and third-party software, Software reliability, Performance and QoS testing, Security testing, Testing standards and technologies, Metrics and Empirical studies, Experience reports.

How to submit

Format Research papers must conform to the two-column IEEE conference publication format. Templates for Latex and Word are available at http://www.ieee.org/conferences_events/conferences/publishing/templates.html; use the letter format templates and the "conference" option (i.e., not the Computer Society format).

Papers must be submitted in PDF format and must not exceed 10 pages (+2 pages for references). ICST uses single-blind reviewing, so please include all author names and affiliations. Submissions will be handled via EasyChair at <http://easychair.org/conferences/?conf=icst2017>
